PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Annie
Howard

Dear MAEA,

2019 was the last typical start to a school year and this year is off to the most typical start since then. The same goes for our conference. Our incredible 2020 and 2021 Conference Team handled the professional learning opportunities with tenacity, innovation, and grace. I'm so thankful for Carrie, Darcy, Janine, and Tanya's leadership. THANK YOU! Now we are under the leadership of the fabulous 2022 Conference Team of Alison, Emily, Jennifer, and Tanya. Their positivity, energy, and creativity has been so encouraging for our art education community and I'm so excited to grow in learning, friendships, and inspiration. THANK YOU!

I would like to honor and thank our past registrar and bookkeeper, Margaret Black. She has been a steady and wise asset to MAEA. Margaret's work and time with MAEA is appreciated greatly. Please think of her and wish her well in her journey in health and retirement. Margaret, MAEA loves you!

Please welcome new faces at the registration table this year. Teri Zinn, from the Grand Rapids area, joins MAEA as our conference registrar and Angie Schaffer, from Lenawee County, as our bookkeeper. Both are phenomenal gifts to MAEA. On behalf of our organization, we welcome and thank you!

While at the conference, please find me and let me know how you would like to become more involved with MAEA. Being on the Council and E-Board has been a rewarding and inspirational experience. I hope you consider it, too!

Have a great beginning to your school year and I hope you commit to coming to the conference. It is sure to be a spectacular professional learning opportunity.

Kindest regards,
Annie Howard

Hello Members! This past year we were back in person for the conference and it was wonderful to see those who attended. As we approach the next conference, we continue to make progress with the new database. I have a few suggestions to help with registration.

1. Please try to renew your membership and register early for the conference. If for any reason you have a problem registering, email me with proof of your renewal and personal information so that I can quickly add you into the database for registration.
2. Registering and paying for the conference DOES NOT INCLUDE YOUR MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL. This is a separate fee.
3. If you live outside of the region you teach in, you need to use your school address for your membership. This will ensure you're included on regional information for liaison communication about exhibitions and other information.
4. If you are not receiving information from your region, please let me know so that we can get you connected.
5. Take advantage of your membership and attend the state and national conference, utilize your state (miarted.org) and national (arteducators.org) websites, and connect with art teachers all over.
6. Please encourage your art colleagues to join MAEA so that they can benefit from all that it has to offer.
7. If you'd like MAEA to send a card of sympathy or celebration to a member, please contact me with your requests.

Kindest regards,
Jackie Whiteley

PRESIDENT-ELECT'S MESSAGE

presidentelect@miarted.org

Last June, I attended the 10th Anniversary Gala celebrating the work completed by the Michigan Arts Education Instruction and Assessment group known as MAEIA (pronounced “My-Uh”) held at The Wharton Center for the Performing Arts on the campus of Michigan State University in East Lansing.

MAEIA supports school districts and educators by providing resources in a one-stop fashion on their website www.maeia-artsednetwork.org. MAEIA provides free tools and resources addressing assessment, model assessments, a self-study tool to analyze and reflect upon the status of our own school districts and our arts education programs, and a goal-setting “blueprint” document for school improvement purposes with seven criteria that align with the Michigan School Improvement Framework.

From MAEIA's website:

The Formative Assessment Process leads teachers and students to ask themselves three guiding questions throughout the learning process:

- Where are we (teachers and students) going?
- What does the student understand now?
- How do we (teachers and students) get to the learning target?

In arts classrooms, these guiding questions support students as they improve their artistic practice, creative process, and methods for delivering and receiving feedback. For example, self-assessment, a tool already valuable in the arts, is refined further, creating more independent and discerning thinkers and artists. These guiding questions support teachers as they enhance their skills in drawing more sophisticated performances and more innovative creative work out of their students.

Keynote speaker, Dale Schmid, Research Fellow: Amhold Institute for Dance Education Research, Policy, and Leadership, referred to high quality arts instruction as including collaborative learning, and demystifying how art instruction is taught and what occurs in the art classrooms. The aim of assessment being three-fold:

- What do you want to know?
- What are you going to do with the data once you have it?
- What does success look like to you?

Helen Keller's famous quote, “alone we can do so little; together we can do so much,” was echoed throughout Dr. Schmid's presentation, and pertains not only to our role as art educators within our own districts, but as colleagues across the state, nationally, and globally. Being an active member in the Michigan Art Education Association can be the foundation for deeper conversations and connections regarding how we assess student art, how our administrators evaluate our teaching practices, and how we can become stronger art advocates and leaders promoting high quality art education for all students.

Speaking of working together, have you heard about the Michigan Department of Education's Formative Assessment for Michigan Educators (FAME) program? True confession, I never had until the MAEIA10 Gala. From MAEIA's website, FAME began in 2008 as part of MDE's goal to provide different approaches to reach high school students who were low achievers. FAME is supported by the Michigan Assessment Consortium (MAC) and is inviting arts educators to join as members of a statewide Arts Team for the 2022-23 school year. If you are interested in learning more about this program, contact Jason O'Donnell from the Michigan Assessment Consortium at jodonnell@michiganassessmentconsortium.org.

With assessment and best practices in the forefront of my mind, I am excited about this school year and seeing what my students will create. Art education is essential and I am so thankful for having abundant resources to support our efforts. Here's to an amazing year ahead and I look forward to seeing everyone at the Amway Grand for our fall conference!

VICE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

vicepresident@miarted.org

"I have come to believe that a great teacher is a great artist... Teaching might even be the greatest of the arts since the medium is the human mind and spirit."

~ John Steinbeck

Wishing you all much rest this summer and inspiration this fall. Soon we will transition from that person we most likely were over the summer - someone balancing family, community obligations, professional development, personal care and either making or enjoying art - to the art teacher in our classroom. And although I cannot promise that this school year will have a better transition, I can offer some insight in how looking at what is in front of us with humanity and envisioning what we would like our classroom to be can be a most beneficial goal.

Over the summer, I attended the KAHLO WITHOUT BORDERS talk with Frida's grandniece, Christina Kahlo, as the speaker. Christina is a photographer like Frida's father and brother but unlike them, she never met her aunt as Frida had passed away before she was born. But Frida's influence on Christina is present in the way she sees the world and is forever ingrained in her own work.

For the most part we do not know the artist we teach about. We research, present and hope we make connections for our students to enrich their own art senses and understanding of the cultural, social and political place from which it comes. My recent grad class made me realize that again the artist who we expose our students to is relevant to how we see the world as well as how students see the world. I was recently introduced this past school year to the artist, Kyle Meyer. Using his photographic weavings, I tried the VTS strategy to get responses from my high school students who understand the Postmodern Principles. What happened next made me pause as I realized that I was not being fair to many artists I use in my curriculum. I was not talking about the cultural, social or political reasons behind their work even though that was my intention. I was not giving them their voices. Kyle Meyer's work explores sexual and gender identities in the southern African country by using traditional Swazi wax cloth head wraps on men which may have helped a peaceful Pride parade happen in Swaziland in 2018. This is important, inspiring and impactful information to share with my students.

This year my goal is to make sure I give my artists their voices and my students as well. Each year I fill a new notebook with artists names both local and international, artworks to share with my students that I think are engaging, and strategies to make sure I am igniting critical thinking, problem solving and an appreciation of design and its process. My plan for the first day of class this school year is to collect a list from students about the artists and art they like, as well as asking them for artworks that they don't see that might be helpful in their creative quest to add to my curriculum. Our students need a voice in what we teach.

"Art has the role in education of helping children become like themselves instead of more like someone else."

- Sydney Gurewitz Clemens

I truly believe the quote by Sydney Gurewitz Clemens. As I go deep into the forest of artists to inspire and collect more knowledge to share, I hope I can make my classroom more diverse, equitable and inclusive. I look forward to hearing about your journeys and artists you have collected along the way to share with your students. May this year be one that takes the cultural, social and political climate and changes it through art. Wishing you all well this fall!

NAEA DELEGATE

Reflections on a Career Well Spent....

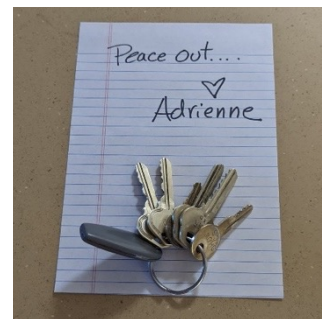

Last week I turned in my keys. After 25 wonderful years of teaching art, I have decided to start a new phase in life. It was a tough decision, as I truly enjoyed my experiences during that time, but it was time for me.

As I reflect on what those years meant to me, I realize that one of my most meaningful decisions was to start this journey with MAEA and NAEA in my back pocket. I had the good fortune to have a supervising teacher that told me I would find a community of like-minded teachers unlike any I would meet in my buildings. I soon realized that art teachers work in isolation in their districts, and that their professional development wouldn't apply to art.

I have been able to free the creative spirit in my students, as evidenced by their beautiful artwork. I enjoyed creating theme-based units, incorporating art history into lessons, and teaching students to embrace new techniques. I was able to witness their inspiration and see the light in their eyes afterwards. I created a beautiful studio space, where students felt safe to create. I was fortunate to be able to have an after-school art club throughout the years, and have left behind a legacy of murals throughout the district in which students learned to become community artists.

Joining MAEA/NAEA was a way to help ease me into my career with success; but I got way more than expected. My art teacher friends are my BEST friends. I consider myself lucky to have had the connection with them from my earliest days of teaching. I attended and worked on many state conferences, finding them so exciting and revitalizing because of the unique learning opportunities presented and the generosity of the teachers who presented. Anyone struggling to get through the Covid years were able to connect with and learn technology tips and tricks to help them deal with a new online format. The National Art Education Conventions were another step up, in which I was able to network with art teachers from across the country. It was there that I decided to represent our state in my current position as delegate.

So, here's my sage advice: whether you are a new teacher or a seasoned professional, I hope you will take advantage of all that our organization has to offer. Consider attending the MAEA Fall Conference, The Grand Experience, in Grand Rapids this November. When you find that you are revitalized, then try attending a NAEA Convention. I urge you to connect with new teachers and exchange ideas. Know that you are not alone. Embrace this organization as I have and enjoy a rich, rewarding career teaching art. I plan to continue to support art education through my leadership role and impart new information to you all. Enjoy your journey through art as I have.

HIGHER EDUCATION DIVISION

Conflict and Controversy | Online Resources

Dr. Cam
McComb

These are challenging times. As the political landscape becomes more volatile, we in higher education have to ask: How do we help to make our students feel physically, intellectually, and emotionally safe? How do we maintain the integrity of our own convictions while simultaneously supporting the voice of students who will hold opposing views? Most of our students are adults so while we can talk openly in our classrooms, how do we make sure those conversations are facilitated in a way that makes everyone feel welcomed? When is it okay to voice our own views and when must we strive to stay neutral? To help you answer these questions for yourselves, I have located three quality sources to help those in higher education to prepare for the year ahead.

- This site offers discussion protocols and sample syllabus text.
Facilitating Controversial Discussions, The Harriet W. Sheridan Center for Teaching and Learning, Brown University, July 3, 2022, <https://www.brown.edu/heridan/teaching-learning-resources/inclusive-teaching/charlottesville>
- This site describes how to use “calling in” as a strategy for inviting students with dissenting opinions into the conversation.
Calling in Classroom Conflict, The Ohio State University: Teaching and Learning Resource Center, July 3, 2022, <https://teaching.resources.osu.edu/teaching-topics/calling-classroom-conflict>
- This site provides links to several papers, some more current than others, discussing ways to facilitate conversations on controversial topics.
Discussion-Based Teaching and Handling Controversial Topics in the Classroom Center for Research on Learning and Teaching (CRLT): Guidelines for Discussing Difficult or High-Stakes Topics, July 11, 2022, <https://crlt.umich.edu/tstrategies/tsd>

You need not feel alone. The benefit of MAEA/NAEA membership is that you can count on the support of like-minded professionals to help. Please reach out to your division colleagues if you need assistance or support. Together we are strong!

MUSEUM EDUCATOR MESSAGE

Museum Education Division Chair

Grace
VanderVliet

As a relatively new Museum Education Division Chair, I'm eager to dive into the role. My tendency is to energetically overcommit and then find myself treading water in the deep end, wondering why I'm wiped out. Bearing that in mind, our Museum Education Division has intentionally held realistic expectations. We've met quarterly and virtually, and the sessions have been invigorating and inspiring! We share experiences, tips, and frustrations; we choose one loose theme to focus our conversations.

This season, I encourage you to check out just one exhibition – ideally in person at a Michigan art museum, but perhaps online or at a local gallery. Find inspiration and dip your toes into what's happening in our Michigan art museums this fall.

The walk will be social as it engages thought, conversation, and inquiry during planned sharing intervals. The walk will be private and introspective as each participant experiences Ah-Nab-Awen Park through individual bodily senses. The walk will be public as participants upload and share eco-noticings in the form of digital photos and audio recordings to a social media hashtag created for the walk: #sensingAh-Nab-Awen Park.

FRIDAY KEYNOTE

Tracy Van Duinen

Tracy Van Duinen is a Grand Rapids native and Kendall College of Art and Design Distinguished Alumni. He received a BFA in Visual Communication and moved to Chicago to pursue a career in advertising. He moved up the ranks and worked as a Senior Art Director with clients, such as Nike, Hewlett Packard and Coca-Cola, to develop in-store marketing materials.

Feeling unfulfilled, Tracy went back to college and earned a BFA in Art Education from the University of Illinois, Chicago in 1997. He worked for 17 years as an urban educator on the West and South Sides of Chicago. In 2005, Tracy was part of a team of educators who founded the School for Social Justice in Chicago's South Lawndale neighborhood. The community forced Chicago Public Schools to build a new school in their area by staging a 19-day hunger strike that received national attention. The interdisciplinary curriculum Tracy helped develop honored their sacrifice by thematically linking all courses to social justice issues. Van Duinen has received multiple awards for his work including the Golden Apple Award for Excellence in Teaching and the Suave Performance Plus Award for Inspirational Teaching. Tracy is National Board Certified and has earned a MEd in Instructional Leadership.

While teaching on Chicago's West Side, Tracy noticed his students would come back from summer break with battle scars from gang violence or they wouldn't come back at all. Tracy's college professor, Olivia Gude, introduced him to the Chicago Public Art Group where he found and fell in love with community-based art. He realized quickly that this could be a means to employ his students during the summer and get them off the streets. Tracy has used public art to engage his students and their communities in dialogue about their lives ever since. This work grew into his large-scale multimedia murals that can be seen in schools and communities across the country. Tracy has won multiple awards for his public art including placing second two times in ArtPrize, Grand Rapids' annual international art competition. He was also commissioned to create a large mosaic mural that welcomes young patients to the Helen Devos Children's Hospital.

He is currently teaching in Oak Park, Illinois, located just west of where he began his educational career.

Grand Rapids Children's Museum
Friday, November 4th at 4:00 p.m.

The Grand Rapids Children's Museum is our community's leader and primary advocate for the purpose and power of play for all children. We have been inspiring young minds and preparing the next generation of leaders since opening our doors 25 years ago, welcoming nearly four million individuals to explore, create and tinker through carefully curated experiences that bring tangible expression to learning. It is our goal and priority to serve a target audience that reflects the diverse demographics of our community. Inclusivity is one of our core values and has been a primary focus at GRCM. Aligned with our mission statement (We are an environment for play. We advocate for the value of play. We build minds through play.), our many access initiatives ensure all children, regardless of socio-economic status, have access to arts and cultural expressions of play and learning.

Wimee the Robot!

Wimee the robot and his friends have their own exhibit inside the GRCM. Wimee is a robot that loves to tell stories, play music and games that spark imagination, inspire creative thinking, and encourage a love of learning and trying new things. Wimee's Exhibit celebrates diversity of languages and cultures, and invites creativity and collaboration, and ultimately fosters a growing community of young learners and creators!

Mo Willems Exhibit

This traveling exhibit was co-organized by the Children's Museum of Pittsburgh and The Eric Carle Museum of Picture Book Art and is inspired by the art and characters of the beloved children's book author and illustrator, Mo Willems. Visitors are invited into the imagination, whimsy, and humor of Mo Willems through familiar characters, including Elephant, Piggie, Knuffle Bunny, and The Pigeon, the wily city bird best known for his antics in Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus! Activities will give children the opportunity for hands-on, interactive play while learning about the rich social and emotional lives of the author's characters.

Friday and Saturday Walking Art Tours with Caroline Cook

Miles of Murals Walking Tour*

Friday, Saturday 3:00 - 4:30 p.m.

Who says art museums must be inside, enclosed with 4 walls, a ceiling and floor? Swirling all about us in each of our Grand Rapids city neighborhoods, vibrant, and intriguing artwork is appearing outside on sides of buildings, underneath highway overpasses, on retaining walls, street surfaces and utility boxes. These are murals, street art, wall art, painted by artists that celebrate beauty, or calls to action, and tributes to heroes. The murals transform otherwise unnoticeable, or worse, blighted spaces into must-see, energizing attractions. Viewing these murals is a study in local history, community activism and sheer expressions of creativity... art all the time!

 This tour will include visiting two of the three Grand Rapids murals created by our keynote speaker, Tracy Van Duinen.*

Meet your guide: Caroline Cook has provided nearly 1,500 tours through Grand Rapids. She is a proud downtown dweller, citizen historian, exercise enthusiast and amazing story teller. She founded Grand Rapids Running and Walking Tours in 2013 and has become the "go-to girl" for learning about everything Grand Rapids - past and present. www.grandrapidsrunningtours.com

Important: Registration Instructions

If you plan to register online at: <https://conference.miarted.org/> ONLY TICKETED SESSIONS [hands-on, medleys, meals] OR TOURS are listed on the registration site. Please read the following helpful information:

1. Membership ID number: if your membership has or will expire before November 3, you must renew it. You can renew at: <http://www.miarted.org/about.php> (under Membership) or go to the NAEA site at: <http://www.arteducators.org/promo/renew>
If you renew after August 1, please retain a copy of your confirmation from NAEA and bring it with you when you stop at registration.
2. If you are a new/recent member and are not registered with MAEA systems yet, the MAEA online registration system will give you a temporary number so you can still register. MAEA and NAEA require your membership to attend the conferences. We will send you reminders to fulfill this responsibility if we do not have confirmation from NAEA by our next membership reports.
3. Many of our members find that they must re-enter the online registration site to adjust session selections. To do so, you will need to use the same Membership ID and Last Name as you initially set up. If you do not, you will be listed multiple times, and will be charged fees each time you re-enter. These can be cleared up, but adds to the challenge of accounting for the number of members attending. Should you have problems, email Teri at registrar@miarted.org or Jane at executivesecretary@miarted.org.
4. MAEA conference now creates class lists for the presenters for the ticketed sessions; therefore, you will not be able to register for certain sessions for anyone else, as your name will be on the list multiple times. You will be allowed to purchase only one ticket for each ticketed session.
5. Guests and spouses must be registered on the special Guest Registration site or Special Registration form. This link is found on the main registration login page. You will not be able to select a meal, for example, the Awards Banquet, for more than one ticket. You must register that additional ticket, or tickets in the guest registration.
6. All receipts from both snail mail and online registration are emailed. Watch for emails from: registrar@miarted.org.
If your payment is not made when registering online, you will receive an email reminder notice. If this is not paid, prior to the conference, you will not be guaranteed any of the ticketed sessions you have requested. You will need to register at onsite prices for the sessions that are still available.
7. No conference badges will be included in envelopes at the registration desk until all payments are completed. If payment is not rendered prior to the close of pre-registration, your registration will be cancelled.
8. Your onsite registration envelope will include your receipt and tickets for any meals, tours, or medleys that you have selected. "Ticketed" hands-on sessions provide the presenter with a class list; you do not receive a separate ticket for each session. You will receive one "Big Ticket" listing ticketed events.

Conference Information and Policy

Online Registration will open September 1, 2022 and will close September 30, 2022.

You must be a member of NAEA/MAEA and pay a conference registration fee to attend this conference, unless you are a guest. [see Special Registration guidelines]

Membership

You must be a member of NAEA/MAEA to attend this conference. If you are not, please complete the membership form on the back page of this edition. You may also go to the MAEA website www.miarted.org, click on About / Membership and follow the directions. If you are joining after the deadline listed on the conference registration form, then you must MAIL this application (make a copy for your records) and your check to NAEA:

NAEA Membership
901 Prince Street
Alexandria, VA 22314

If you renew after August 1, please retain a copy of your confirmation from NAEA and bring it with you when you stop at registration.

If you are a new or renewing member, your membership fee can now be included in your conference registration fee. Please remember to fill out and include the membership application.

Pre-Registration Notification

All members have the option of registering through the traditional mail process or registering online at <https://conference.miarted.org/>.

The online registration information includes TICKETED or LIMITED sessions only. Non-ticketed sessions do not require pre-registration.

Everyone pre-registering with a postmark not later than September 30, 2022 will be emailed a registration receipt. You must include your email in the registration, either online or mailed. If you do not include an email where you can receive the receipt, then you will receive your receipt at the conference when you pick up your registration materials. All receipts from both snail mail and online registration are emailed. Watch for emails from: registrar@miarted.org.

YOU MUST PUT THIS EMAIL ADDRESS IN YOUR ADDRESS BOOK TO RECEIVE THE EMAILED RECEIPT. NO RECEIPTS WILL BE MAILED.

Note: Most ticketed workshops will sell out very quickly. Registrations postmarked after the pre-registration deadline of September 30, 2022 will be handled in order of their arrival with receipts handed out at the conference registration site.

Pre-Registration Payment

Payment is required at the time of both snail mail and online registration. Several options are available: check sent with snail mail registration, or Pay Pal or with a credit card with online registration. Registration payment onsite will be $75 higher. There will be no admission to the conference without complete payment. If your school district or university plans to pay your registration, and does not make payment prior to onsite check in, you will be required to pay the entire fee to participate in the conference. It is your responsibility to then seek reimbursement from your district or university. If payment is not received by September 30, 2022, your pre-registration will be cancelled. Any ticketed sessions you have reserved will then become available for onsite registration. If there are extenuating circumstances, please contact Teri Zinn at registrar@miarted.org or Jane Inhulsen at executivesecretary@miarted.org no later than the close of online registration.

Special Registration

A Special Registration form for School Administrators, guests of award recipients, and guests of members is provided in this edition as well as online. These special guests may fill out the Special Registration form in this edition or online. This form will allow them to reserve tickets for Administrators' meal, the Awards Banquet as well as a meal selection for the same, or a ticket for the Saturday night Gala.

Spouses who are attending those meals or events listed above should register as a Special Guest.

Conference Information and Policy

Onsite Registration Hours

Thursday: 2:00 p.m. – 7:00 p.m.

Friday: 7:00 a.m. – 7:00 p.m. | Saturday: 7:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m.

Onsite Registration Location

Registration may be completed onsite at the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel Level 2 Concourse upon arrival. However, the onsite registration fee is $75 higher in all member categories. This also means standing in line longer with less chance of obtaining desired ticketed workshops.

Sessions

Some special guest artists, workshops, tours and events have restrictions. Please note: TICKETED sessions in the program are due to fees, room size and presenter requests. Non-ticketed sessions will be a first come, first served at the door of the session and should NOT be listed on your registration form. Actual TICKETS are provided in your onsite registration envelope for tours, meals and medleys. Class lists are provided for the session presenter and for all other ticketed sessions.

Nametags need to be worn at all times. The nametags give you access to the Vendor area, workshops, tours and meals. Tickets for ticketed events must be presented at the time of entry.

Refunds

It is NAEA/MAEA Policy that all requests for refunds are submitted in writing, stating the reason that you expect a refund. A $50 processing fee is charged for all cancellations [regardless of the date requested].

All TICKETED events are non-refundable. Executive Board will consider refund requests for dire circumstances, excluding the $50 Processing fee and non-refundable events.

Conference Materials for Participants

Registration will be held at the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel Level 2 Concourse. All materials may be picked up at the registration site. Look for all open and cancelled workshop events in this area as well.

Conference nametags must be worn everywhere! This includes the Vendor area, workshops, meals, and tours. You will be denied access without your nametag!

Conference Materials for Presenters

Presenters must check in at conference registration at the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel Level 2 Concourse. You will pick up workshop information and event materials, presenter information and gift bag there.

Important Advisory

Presenters graciously share their ideas and time for your benefit. Presenters have enough materials on hand for the limit listed in their session information. Please respect these limits. Arrive on time. Attend the entire session. Display professional and courteous behavior at all times. Student Classification means FULL-TIME students.

Open Meeting Policy

NAEA/MAEA policy states all sessions held within the framework of its conference are open to all NAEA/MAEA members who are registered for the conference. The only exception is for ticketed functions, including meals, workshops or receptions that may be sponsored by other groups.

Tax Deduction

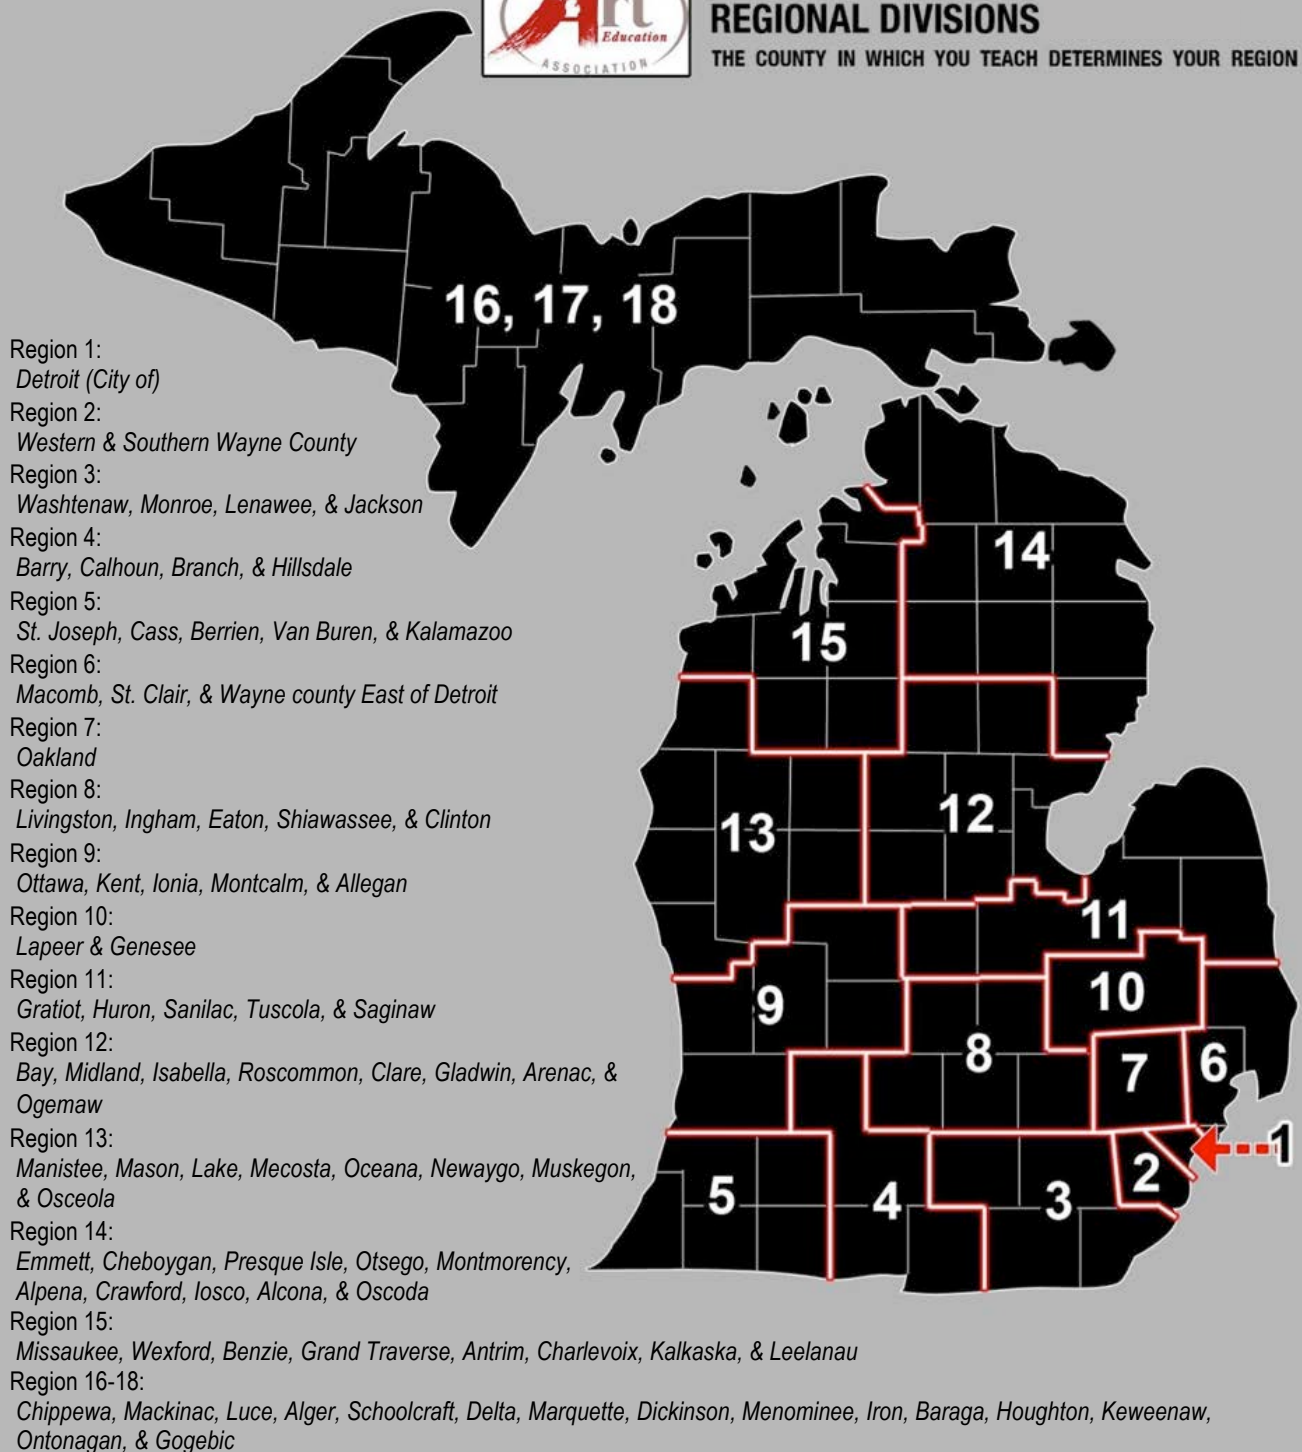

To qualify for a tax deduction, a person must be registered for the conference. Treasury regulation No.1.1625 permits income tax deduction for educational expenses [registration fees and cost of travel, meals, and lodging] undertaken to:

1. Maintain or improve skills required in one's employment or other or business;
OR
2. To meet express requirements of an employer or law imposed as a condition to retention of employment, job status, or rate of compensation. [IRS Publication #508, U.S. Government printing office] Please retain your pre-registration confirmation and receipts for your records and reimbursement from your district.
